Epistle: Ephesians 2:14-22

Gospel: Luke 13:10-17

Ephesians 2:14b (ACCS Ga-Php): 2:14b Breaking Down the Wall of Hostility The Wall Between Jew and Gentile Broken Down. Ambrosiaster: The passion of the Savior made peace between the circumcision and the uncircumcision. For the enmity, which was between them like a wall and divided the circumcision from the uncircumcision and the uncircumcision from the circumcision, was abolished by the Savior. His command is that the Jew should not so presume on his circumcision as to reproach the Gentile, nor should the Gentile trust in his uncircumcision, that is, his paganism, so as to abhor the Jew. Both, made new, should maintain in Christ their faith in the one God. Epistle to the Ephesians 2.14.1.

Luke 13:10-13 (ACCS Lk): Jesus Overcomes Death and Destruction. Cyril of Alexandria: The incarnation of the Word and his assumption of human nature took place for the overthrow of death, destruction and the envy harbored against us by the wicked Serpent, who was the first cause of evil. This plainly is proved to us by facts themselves. He set free the daughter of Abraham from her protracted sickness, calling out and saying, "Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity." A speech most worthy of God, and full of supernatural power! With the royal inclination of his will, he drives away the disease. He also lays his hands upon her. It says that she immediately was made straight. It is now also possible to see that his holy flesh bore in it the power and activity of God. It was his own flesh, and not that of some other Son beside him, distinct and separate from him, as some most impiously imagine.

Commentary on Luke, Homily 96.

Kontakion, Synaxis of Archangel Michael & all the Bodiless Hosts

Commanders of God's armies and ministers of the divine glory, princes of the bodiless angels and guides of mankind, ask for what is good for us, and for great mercy, supreme commanders of the Bodiless Hosts.

Holy Archangel Michael Pray unto God for us!

“Your Nativity, O Christ our God, Has shown to the world the light of wisdom For by it those who worshipped the stars Were taught by a star to adore You, The Sun of Righteousness, And to know You, the Orient from on high. O Lord, glory to You!”

Some people fault the Christian Church for establishing the feast of Christ's birth on the day of the "birth of the sun." Certain Christian sects even oppose the celebration. Orthodox Christians believe that it was an act inspired by the Holy Spirit. God has sent His Son into the world for its sanctification and salvation. The Messiah has com "not to condemn the world," with its feeble and misguided attempts to find life's meaning, "but that the world might be saved through Him" (Jn 3:17). For, as the apostle Paul has written, "it is the God who said 'Let light shine out of darkness,' who has shone in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face [literally person] of Christ" (2 Cor 4:6).

“The Magi who had been led on their way by a divine star Stood before You in wonder at Your marvelous birth;
And bearing gifts, they see the sun Who rose form the Virgin cloud.
Let the people who sat in darkness See shining forth the Light that knows no evening,
Him whom the star once manifested To the fire-worshipping Persian kings.
You have shone forth from a Virgin, O Spiritual Son of Righteousness,
And a star revealed You, Whom nothing can contain, Contained within a cave.
You have led the Magi to worship You, And joining with them we magnify You.
O Giver of Life, glory to You.
Our savior, the Dayspring from the East, has visited us from on high;
And we who were in darkness and shadow Have found the Truth.
For the Lord is born of a Virgin!”

Fund Raising vs Christian Stewardship - Richard Reidly

At the outset, I want to establish different definitions for fund raising and for Christian stewardship. Fund raising means getting people to give more money. Christian stewardship on the other hand helps people to be more giving. Christian stewardship could be defined as the effective commitment or investment of human and material resources in participation with Christ in his love for others.

There are two primary points to be made. The first point is that stewardship always has to do with a Christian's task of giving away gifts that have already been given to him by God. This presupposes, of course, acceptance of the belief that all things are conferred on us by God. The second point is that stewardship always has to do with a Christian getting free of what binds him. In our culture, nothing binds us more than money - the symbol of material things. The first point has to do with turning to a new life; the latter with turning away from an old life. In other words, stewardship is intertwined with conversion. One has to be turned away from what binds him, and turned towards what frees him. This is the test of genuine conversion.

We must become deeply convinced that the relationship of a person and his money is fundamentally a spiritual matter, as fraught with implications for an individual's spiritual life as is his life of prayer or any other "religious" activity. Jesus said in Matthew 6:21, "Where your treasure is there shall your heart be also." Somehow, in some way, what a person does with his money, how he thinks about it, where he spends it, what he will do to earn it, and the things to which he will give it are some of the real clues to who he is inside, to what is essentially important to him, to what is really in his heart. It is significant to note the order of things in the words of Jesus. He does not say, "Where your heart is there shall your treasure be also." Try an experiment. Go out and buy a few shares of stock. Make it enough so the financial interest is important to you. Then notice what part of the newspaper you turn to first when you pick it up. I'd be willing to bet it will be to the financial page to check on your investment. Interest and enthusiasm follow money. "Where your treasure is there shall your heart be also."

To put it another way, the places where we make our most serious financial investments are the places where our real self, our inner self, is going to be most interested, most teachable, most responsive, and most open. To deal with a person in terms of what he does with his money is to deal with most people where they really live. A properly conceived stewardship effort in the Church can thus be an avenue to genuine spiritual growth. Good stewardship has that potential. That, I believe, is something of what Jesus meant when he said, "Where your treasure is there shall your heart be also." It is, therefore, extremely important that we begin to recover a soundly Orthodox theological base for our stewardship efforts.

The Winter Pascha, Chapter 26: The Sun of Righteousness

The following is an excerpt from The Winter Pascha, by Fr. Thomas Hopko

Originally there was but one festival in the Christian Church for the Lord's appearing. It was called the "festival of lights" and it was connected both to the Jewish festival of the season, as well as to the pagan celebration which took place at the time of year when the sun stopped its southern march and began to move again towards the north, symbolizing the victory of light over darkness in the natural order. This feast for the Christians was the feast of Epiphany, which literally means "appearing" or "manifestation," also called Theophany, which literally means the appearance or manifestation of God, and was kept on January 6. It was given this name, obviously, because God appeared on earth in the person of His Son, and manifested His glory in Him who called Himself the "light of the world."

The separate celebration of Jesus' Nativity apart from the one general celebration of His appearance on earth-- which originally included all aspects of His coming, from His birth to His public manifestation at His baptism in the river Jordan-- was consciously done by the Christian Church, first in the West and later in the East, to offset the pagan holiday of the "Nativity of the Invincible Sun." This pagan festival was celebrated on the twenty-fifth of December. It was a day of religious observance for those who worshiped the heavenly bodies, particularly the sun, as gods. When pagans were liberated from this worship and were blessed to adore the true God as Christians, it was only natural that the Church would replace the erroneous festival with the true one, thus giving genuine significance to a day which was already special in the life of many of its new members. It appears that the main hymn of the feast of Christ's Nativity in the Eastern Church was formulated as a conscious polemic against paganism, with a very pointed flaunting of the fact that those who formerly worshipped the stars, including the sun, were taught by a star to worship the True Sun, God's Son Jesus, who gives, and is, the True Light.
